

Presidential Message

Patrick T. Johnson, D.M.D.

I am extremely honored to begin my term as President of the Florida Association of Periodontists just as we come to the close of another banner year for both our state and national organizations. As I have risen through the chairs, I have been fortunate to be able to serve with incredibly talented and hard-working executive council members, not to mention, one of the most capable and effective executive directors on the planet, our very own Marlinda Fulton. Not only that, I have been able to serve alongside my good friend and colleague, Dr. Oscar Morejon. For those who may not know, Oscar and I have been friends since serving together as co-residents at the University of Florida in the early '90s. We were both very fortunate to have been graciously taught and mentored by some you in this room, including the likes of Drs. Alan Fetner, Greg Oxford, and Stu Feldman along with numerous others - I could probably go on and on. Since then, Oscar and I have continued many of our educational endeavors together by attending courses and meetings throughout the country. Oscar has been a great example to me when it comes to taking initiative and becoming involved in organized dentistry. He is a social and outgoing person and he has a remarkable ability to connect and network with people for a common cause. He was responsible for convincing me to accept my appointment to the executive council, despite my lack of political ambition. Most assuredly, he will be a hard act to follow.

I want to assure everyone that the Florida Association of Periodontists will continue its quest to remain actively involved in the ever-changing political landscape of our profession. It is abundantly clear that to protect our patients as well as our own autonomy, we will all need to be present and actively engaged at all levels, local, state, and national, in order to thwart off the continual attacks on our profession. Please don't interpret this to just pertain to periodontal societies. In fact, there is a pending bylaws change at the AAP level to no longer require membership in the ADA to be a member of the AAP. The AAP will, however, continue to recommend membership in the ADA as do I. Let me stress to everyone how import it is to have a seat at the table. I share with you the frustrations that sometimes may arise between our general dental colleagues, dental specialists, or other dental auxiliaries' interests with our own agenda. If you are not there, how can we be part of the solution? We may not win every battle, but we can certainly

Perio Program Updates

NOVA SOUTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY

We are glad to welcome our four new residents starting July 2018. Dr. Mohammed Al Rubaie (Baghdad University), Dr. Eric Jimenez (University of Puerto Rico), Dr. Jason Wong (Tufts University), and Dr. Luanna Zambrana (University of Puerto Rico).

We are pleased to report the hire of a full-time faculty member, Dr. Liana Basceanu-Sarbu. Dr. Basceanu-Sarbu is joining after a successful career in her private practice in New Jersey.

Respectfully submitted,
Theofilos Koutouzis DDS, MS
Graduate Program Director and Associate Professor

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA

We are glad to report that our senior residents, Drs. Christian Alvarez, Camille Medina, and Gabriela Vila successfully presented at the last FAP Meeting. We have also accepted four applicants during our last application cycle. Domenic DiGioia (NOVA and 2017 recipient of the FAP Outstanding Student Award), Ross Hauer (UF), Juliana Sanderberg (NOVA), and Erick Di Matteo (Venezuela). We look forward to welcoming these four new residents in July. Our residents recently attended the SAP Winter Meeting, as well as the Annual AO meeting in Los Angeles. Our residents will also be attending the AAP Meeting in Vancouver, as well as presenting posters.

Florida Board of Dentistry Report

Submitted by Dr. Oscar Morejon

The following FAP members attended the Florida Board of Dentistry (BOD) on February 16, 2018 in Gainesville: Dr. Gary Altschuler, Jim Antoon, Chris Berdy, and Oscar Morejon.

Dr. Charlie Cobb gave a presentation opposing the use of lasers in periodontal therapy. The Board defeated the proposal on the use of lasers by hygienists in periodontal therapy. The only members voting for the proposal were Dr. Fatmi, Ms. Cabanzon, and Mr. Andrade. There was much discussion on this issue. Drs. Gary Altschuler, Jim Antoon, Christian Berdy, Don Ilkka, and Tom Bowers testified in opposition.

Rules discussion included: the BOD Executive Director, Jennifer Wenhold, sharing that the Department of Health is working on a general application for all professions to gather the standardized background information, the BOD approving the language stating if you have a teaching permit you are exempt from the CE requirements (there are still mandatory courses such as CPR required), the BOD also approved language stating a dentist and hygienist can only receive up to 6 hours (as opposed to 7) for pro bono service.

The Florida Academy of Pediatric Dentistry requested the Board create a list of approved programs that comply with the training requirements necessary to get a pediatric conscious sedation permit. The Board stated the rule language is clear on what needs to be in such training program and it would not be compiling a list.

The BOD executive director reported all anesthesia inspectors have now been trained on tablets to ensure inspections are now more uniform.

The Board passed a motion to amend Rule 64B5-2.0144 to close this loophole and require a credentials check be done when an applicant applies to sit for the Florida Laws and Rules exam in addition to the licensure exam. The Board also directed the BOD executive director that they would like the Department of Health to add language to its bill this Session that would specify a general supplemental dentistry program does not include a specialty program. The Florida Dental Association will be assisting with this effort.

leave our mark, and who knows, it just may influence the outcome of the next battle.

Recently, there have been several important matters pending before the Florida Board of Dentistry and the state legislature. The Florida Hygiene Association actively lobbied the BOD for a rule change to allow dental hygienists to utilize lasers as part of their regular armamentarium, regardless of the outcomes for the patient. Fortunately, extensive lobbying efforts by diligent FAP members and others helped prevent it from passing. Also, efforts to pass a bill in the state legislature for allowing a dental therapist position to be added to the delivery model here in Florida, with what most of us would consider, very minimal educational requirements, have been unrelenting and will likely continue for some time to come.

Despite the many challenges facing our specialty, I, like many of you, feel that this is one of the most exciting and enjoyable times to be practicing periodontics. It seems with every year that goes by, we see new possibilities in our field. These possibilities create the opportunity to expand our scope of practice by acquiring skills and the knowledge base to meet the changing times. We are fortunate to have fine university periodontal residency programs, NOVA and UF, with stellar residents who graciously share their research findings as part of our annual winter meeting. These programs also provide opportunities to develop relationships with graduate students that can lead to private practice opportunities, for which I have been a personal recipient.

In the coming year, the FAP will continue to strive to provide our membership with excellent continuing educational opportunities at attractive venues, such as this past meeting featuring Dr. Jovanovic, that allows our members to interact and share ideas. Hopefully, those who attended walked away feeling enriched and invigorated by the content of these programs. Our next meeting, on August 10th-11th will feature Dr. Daniel Becker, who will be speaking on "Procedural Sedation in Dental Practice" on Friday and the main program on Saturday will feature Dr. Barry Levin, from Philadelphia, PA, who will be speaking on "Achieving Predictable Stability with Esthetic Dental Implant Therapy".

I am looking forward to seeing you all there! Thank you.

This course will meet the biennium requirements for a conscious sedation permit.

Description: This presentation will highlight essential scientific principles for the safe and effective use of moderate sedation in clinical practice. Emphasis is placed on drug regimens having proven safety and efficacy in controlling procedural apprehension. Principles of appropriate patient monitoring along with the recognition and management of sedation-related complications will also be addressed.

Topics:

- Sedation in Perspective
- Pharmacological considerations
- Patient Monitoring
- Complications

Objectives:

1. Characterize minimal, moderate and deep sedation, and distinguish these from general anesthesia.
2. Describe the appropriate use of various drug classes useful for providing sedation, including differences in single drug versus multiple drug regimens.
3. Describe appropriate monitoring of perfusion, ventilation and oxygenation
4. Describe recognition and management of related complications.

Dental Implant Therapy. Techniques for 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.

Dental implant therapy has been a major component of periodontal practices for over 2 decades. The unique post-graduate training in surgery, regeneration and knowledge of wound healing makes the periodontist best-suited for this discipline. Understanding of physiologic changes that occur after teeth are extracted has changed the way treatment is performed. Combining minimally-invasive techniques with regenerative therapy can counter much of the negative dimensional changes that can lead to esthetic failures.

The use of allogeneic and xenograft biomaterials can negate the need for secondary donor sites and reduce morbidity. This can also result in esthetically-pleasing results that can be maintained for years. Techniques such as the Dermal Apron Technique (DAT) and the Subperiosteal Tunneling Technique (SPTT) eliminate the need to harvest autogenous soft tissue grafts and are proven to augment the hard and soft tissues, which remain stable years after therapy. They also increase the thickness of the supracrestal soft tissues, stabilizing bone levels and masking the shadows caused by abutments and frameworks. Clinical studies validating this techniques, as well as their indications and limitations, will be discussed, with an emphasis on private practice, where these procedures are performed regularly.

The technique of creating screw-retained, provisional restorations, for the periodontist will also be presented. This can enhance case acceptance and grow the referral base for periodontists who perform this step. Methodology and use of appropriate materials will be presented.

Outline:

1. Discuss the physiologic changes that occur following extractions.
2. Present the rationale for augmentation around immediate and delayed implants.
3. Demonstrate two novel techniques, best-suited for periodontists to perform, to enhance lasting, esthetic and healthy outcomes.
4. Present the technique of fabrication screw-retained, provisional restorations in the periodontal office.

Two Organizations You May Want to Join!

Dr. Jessica Stille-Mallah, FAP Secretary-Treasurer, addressed the membership at the business meeting during this past FAP Winter Meeting. She mentioned two organizations FAP Members may want to consider joining.

The Dental Patient Safety Foundation - The DPSF is an independent, multidisciplinary organization whose purpose is to continually improve patient safety during dental care. Integral to this mission are the non-partisan data collection and analyses, with subsequent reporting, education, and advocacy to all dental professionals. In this endeavor, the creation and ongoing support of a meaningful culture of safety will be promoted. Go to:

www.dentalpatientsafety.org for more information.

Florida Dental Society of Anesthesiology - The Florida Dental Society of Anesthesiology is a component society of the American Dental Society of Anesthesiology. Active membership is open to any licensed Florida dentist who holds either a Pediatric Conscious Sedation permit, a Conscious Sedation permit, or a General Anesthesia permit. Associate membership is available to any interested dentist. Associate members may participate in all activities of the society, but do not vote on policy issues. For more info: www.fdsahome.org

CODA Directs Elimination of “Specialty” Terminology

Dear CODA Community of Interest:

At its February 2, 2018 meeting, the Commission on Dental Accreditation (CODA) took action to remove the word specialty from all CODA documentation, as well as its website, and instead refer to all advanced dental education disciplines as advanced education programs. The Commission concluded that a revision to CODA’s terminology was necessary based upon the following reasons:

- The terminology CODA uses is a carryover of the vocabulary used since 1975, when CODA assumed the policies of the Council on Dental Education and designated postdoctoral dental education programs as specialty programs, or general dentistry programs, based solely on the American Dental Association (ADA) Specialty Recognition Process. This does not reflect the changing environment of dental specialty recognition. In particular, over the past fifteen years, numerous state courts have determined that restricting specialty advertising to the “ADA Recognized Specialties” is restriction of free speech and restriction of trade. The Commission believes that the change in terminology decreases its legal risk in this area.
- The terminology change comports with the scope of the Commission, as recognized by the United States Department of Education (USDE), which does not include specific language to distinguish between “advanced” and “advanced specialty” disciplines within dentistry. The Commission’s scope of recognition with the USDE is: The accreditation of predoctoral dental education programs (leading to the D.D.S. or D.M.D. degree), advanced dental education programs, and allied dental education programs that are fully operational or have attained “Initial Accreditation” status, including programs offered via distance education.
- The Commission is aware that there are misconceptions among many in the communities of interest of the role, if any, that the Commission plays in regards to specialty recognition. The change in terminology clarifies that the Commission accredits education programs, but does not designate which disciplines in dentistry are “specialties.” The Commission’s sole mission is to serve the public and profession by developing and implementing accreditation standards that promote and monitor the continuous quality and improvement of dental education programs.

At its Winter 2018 meeting, the Commission directed CODA staff to identify all necessary CODA materials to be revised, including CODA’s Rules, policies and procedures, Accreditation Standards and supporting documents, and CODA’s website. The Commission also directed staff to submit an Action Plan, to include a high-level schedule of all revisions and a strategy for communicating the implementation of these revisions to CODA’s Communities of Interest. The Commission will consider this Action Plan at its Summer 2018 meeting, to be held August 2–3, 2018. The Commission will continue to keep its communities of interest informed of progress made related to these revisions.

For questions about this Plan, please contact Dr. Sherin Took, director, Commission on Dental Accreditation, at tookss@ada.org

← Message from the AAP President

Last week, the Commission on Dental Accreditation (CODA) released a statement on an action taken during its Feb. 2, 2018 meeting. At this meeting, CODA directed that the word “specialty” be removed from all CODA documentation, as well as its website, and instead refer to all advanced dental education disciplines as advanced education programs.

Many members have asked for further clarification and guidance on what this means for the specialty of periodontics.

CODA accredits education programs but does not designate which disciplines in dentistry are “specialties.” CODA is charged with certifying and maintaining the educational standards for dental education, both pre-doc and post-doc. But CODA does not recognize specialties within dentistry. It is possible for an institution to have a CODA-accredited program in an area of advanced dental education that is not an ADA-recognized specialty discipline. Examples of this would be CODA-accredited programs in orofacial pain and dental anesthesia.

The Commission needs to remain independent and neutral when it comes to the use of the word “specialty” relative to the dental profession and dental education programs under CODA’s accreditation purview. CODA is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education (USDE) as an accrediting body and needs to follow USDE policy so as to retain its recognition by that body. This change by CODA is meant to limit misconceptions about CODA’s role in specialty recognition. CODA’s sole mission is to serve the public and profession by developing and implementing accreditation standards that promote and monitor the continuous quality and improvement of dental education programs.

Specialty recognition is a sensitive area for each of us. Since the first successful lawsuit in Florida 10 years ago regarding dental specialty advertising, specialty recognition has been in flux. The public has a right to clear and unambiguous information as to the training and experience of their health care providers. Your Academy will continue to work tirelessly to maintain the specialty of periodontics on your behalf.

For more information, please visit the CODA website at ada.org/en/coda.

Sincerely,
Steven Daniel, DDS
President, American Academy of Periodontology

AAP Trustee Report

There are several issues to keep your eye on:

1. The proposed AAP Bylaws changes. Please read about these important changes that are to be voted on during the June election period. The proposed changes include ADA membership requirement change for AAP members, removing the office of vice-president from being elected to being part of the chain of officer succession, and several minor changes to terminology concerning all advanced education programs.
2. The changes by CODA of terminology concerning all advanced education programs.
3. The upcoming results of the World Workshop on Periodontal and Peri-Implant Disease Classification. These should be published soon in the journal.
4. Best Evidence Conference on Lasers. These results should also be published soon.
5. The AAP Annual Meeting in Vancouver, October 27-30, 2018.

Please read the information that comes from the AAP. Stay informed. If you should have any questions or concerns, please reach out to your Florida District 3 Trustees, Dr. John Russo, office@russoperio.com, or myself.
